To gender equality and climate action

COP 26 - Be part of it

COP26 - from the sidelines

A lot has happened at COP26. While we can't be there in person, did you know that you can participate online?

Dr Diane Kraal, the speaker at our last Think Tank meeting, has kindly sent through these links to keep us informed and engaged during COP26 - and catch up on what we might have missed.

You do not need to be a delegate to register for the EU COP26 side events.

Have a look through this program to see which sessions best match your interests.

For example, on Tuesday 9 November, there is a session entitled Why investing in scaling up gender-responsive climate action matters. This session runs from 2.30-3.30pm Glasgow time (10.30 pm in WA, midnight in SA, 01.30 am on 10 November in Victoria)

You can also get into many events through this portal:
https://unfccc-cop26.streamworld.de/program and YouTube has many, many recordings.

By the way, have you checked out the Zonta Says NOW website recently? It has a new two-minute video on the home page and a new page summarising the link between gender equality and climate action using the steam train picture. Let me know what you think of them.

Keep smiling and stay safe!

Kind regards
